United States Senators

A friend has called our attention to an article which appeared in the Tribune of this city, on the 9th inst., on the subject of the election of U. S. Senator. The editor of the Tribune takes ground that the Legislature recently elected should elect a Senator to succeed Hon Q N Fitch. whose term of service does not expire till the 4th of blarch, 1861 - more than two years from now - the new Senator's term of actual service not commencing till the December following. Such a course would be entirely without a precedent in this State or any other that we know of.

the Tennessee Legislature pursued a similar course. He says that the last Legislature of Tennessee elected Andrew Johnson as the success sor of John Bell, whose term does not expire till 1861. Here are two mistakes. Andrew Johnson was not elected as the successor of John Rell but of Gov Jones, whose term expired in March 1857. Mr Bell's term expires in March 1859. and to succeed him Hon A. O. P. Nicholson was chosen which was right and proper, as the Legislature of Tennessee does not meet again in time 11. They pledge themselves to fidelity to the to fill the vacancy before the commensement of reason adduced for choosing a successor to Dr Fitch at the present session. No such question as the election of Schators was agitated at the election, and if it was thought of by the opposition they were careful not to openly allude to it. The Legislature of 1860 is the proper one to choose Fitch's successor. The people will then know that that duty will devolve upon the Legislature. islature, but our State, to the ridicule and conparty, or of Mr Douglas upon any of the points

To elect a Senator three years in advance as proposed by the Tribune, would be a gross outrage upon the people of the State, who have not been in the least consulted on that question. We have too much confidence in the good sense of the members elect, however, to believe them guilty of any such folly as that proposed to them by the Tribune. That body will have enough of legitimate business before it to occupy its time, without wrangling about matters which have no proper connection with their functions as legislators -N A. Ledger.

In July, 1853, under the authority of a second amendment to the charter, obtained for the porpose, the capital was again increased frem $200,000 to $500,000. The increase was paid for entirely out of the surplus carnings or profits of the company. The surplus tearnings or profits, after the payment of all disbursements, since 1845, amounted, at the respective dates below given, to the following. ity of a second amendment to the charter, obspective dates below given, to the following and stimulating the system, cure many complain capital of $100,000 was subtracted from the sum $162,513 66 of $127,047 79, being the surplus profit on hand the 1st day of July, 1845, and that the entire increase of capital, amounting to $400,000, was taken from the surplus profits. In addition to these surplus profits, they declared, as we understand, a regular dividend of 8 per cent. That was taken off first. In six months, from Jan. 1, 1854, to July 1, 1854, they increased their surplus profits nearly $100,000, and this on a capital of $500,000. Through the whole of the tariff of 1846, (which was to ruin the whole country.) this company prospered and grew rich beyond all example. We hould like to know what other class of manufactures, with the same amount of capital invested, realized such enormous profits."

At a meeting of the members of the bar of Warsaw, Nov. 16th, 1858, A. J. Power, Esq., was called to the Chair, and Van Long appointed Secretary.

Respondent to the Grant Control of the Secretary of the Chair, and Van Long appointed to the Secretary.

Respondent to the Grant Grant Control of the Secretary of the Chair, and Van Long appointed to the Secretary.

The President reported to the meeting the decease of brother W. W. Donge; whereupon, George D. Copeland, M. J. Long, and J. H. Carpenter were appointed to draft resolutions expressive of the sentiments of the meeting. They reported the following, which were unanimously adopted: Whereas, we have just learned with deep regret the decease of our friend and brother in the legal profession, W. W. Donge, Esq. Therefore, be it Resolved That in the death of Mr. Donce the profession has lost a talented at ORFFS. and promising member; his family a kind and affectionate husband and father; and society a valued and esteemed citizen. Rescived, That in this sudden and unexpected bereavement, we most heartily sympathize with his distressed family, and point the widow and fatherless children for the only true consolation in such times of affliction, to list who has S. F. PRATT'S PATENT said he would be "a father to the fatherless, and the widow's friend." Resolved, That in this inscrutable decree of the Great Judge, in removing from our midst one so young, amiable, and talented, we do not comprehend the design, but feel like meekly sub-

capital of $100,000 was subtracted from the sum of $127,047 79, being the surplus profit on hand the 1st day of July, 1845, and that the entire increase of capital, amounting to $400,000, was taken from the surplus profits. In addition to these surplus profits, they declared, as we understand, a regular dividend of 8 per cent. That was taken off first. In six months, from Jan. 1, 1854, to July 1, 1854, they increased their surplus profits nearly $100,000, and this on capital of $500,000. was called to the Chair, and Van Long appoint- cd ed Secretary.

The President reported to the meeting the decease of brother W. W. Dodge; whereupon, George D. Copeland, M. J. Long, and J H Carpenter were appointed to draft resolutions expressive of the rentiments of the meeting. They reported the following, which were unanimously adouted: Whereas, we have just learned with deep regret the decease of our friend and brother in he legal profession, W. W. Donge, Esq.

Therefore, be it Resolved. That in the death of Mr. Donge the profession has lost a talented and promising member; his family 'a kind 'and affectionate husband and father; and society a valued and esteemed citizen.

Resclved, That in this sudden and unexpected bereavement, we most heartily sympathize with his distressed family, and point the widow and fatherless children for the only true consolation in such times of affliction, to Ilim who has S. F. PRATT'S PATENT said he would be "a father to the fatherless, and the widow's friend." Resolved, That in this inscrutable decree of the Great Judge, in removing from our midst one so young, amiable, and talented, we do not comprehend the design, but feel like meekly submitting and saying, "thou doest all things

Resolved, That we will attend the funeral of the deceased, and wear the usual badge of mourning for thirty days. Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be furnished to the family of the deceased, and papers, and Paduca Journal; and that a copy bereof be spread upon the Journal of the Circuit
